MECHANICS' UNION.

Revised Declaration of Principles Unanimously Adopted. The Candidates Nominated.

Yesterday evening a meeting of the Mechanics' and Workingmen's Political Protective Union was held at the K. of P. hall, Fort street, with a good attendance. Mr. John Phillips presided, supported by Vice-President D. McKenzie. After the meeting was called to order The bark Lady Lampson brought Secretary W. H. Stone read the minutes $25,000 in gold coin for Messrs. Bishop of the previous meeting, which were approved. T. K. Nathaniel was asked to officiate as interpreter.

President Phillips then read the revised declaration of principles of the Union, on which it pledges its candidates. It is almost an entire change from the platform at first laid before the Union, and includes the following lines Those business men and others who of policy: To defend all measures for are using the electric light speak of it in the benefit of the working classes; absolute independence and perfect autonomy of the Kingdom; the Constitution, which There will be the usual services at it is considered was framed hastily and imperfectly, to be carefully revised; liberal reduction of the income qualification; to augment the efficiency of the Homestead Act; immediate and stringent measures against Asiatic laborers that no Asiatics be employed on public works; no material that can be made in the country to be imported; the Sunday law to be modified; revision of the tax laws; improvements to the harbor; extension of the railway around Oahu; better and more systematic road system careful attention to roads and bridges if a loan be needed, to utilize the Postal Savings bank; rigid laws against the opium and illicit liquor traffic and vagrants, etc. The objectionable clause in the former platform, relative to the election of Government officers, has been much modified. The platform was not read in Hawaiian as the Hui Kalaiaina which was holding a meeting elsewhere had the native translation. The President stated that there would be a meeting at an early day and then both translations would be read. J. A. Mehrtens moved, seconded by D. McKenzie, that the principles contained in the document be adopted by the Union. D. M. Crowley then made a speech in which he stated that the platform must give perfect satisfaction to the working man. It had unanimously passed every member of the joint committee of the Union and Hui Kalaiaina. The most important question in the document was at referring to the Chinese. berly transferred his flag from the result of their labors.

On a call for question, the platform was unanimously adopted.

President Phillips then read the following list of nominees who had pledged R. More moved that the action of the joint committee in nominating candidates be endorsed. Carried. A. Coyne thought that the Executive committee merited praise for the manner in which they had worked for the mechanics.

John Bowler said the committee had done their duty to the Union. They had studied the character of each candidate. He urged on those present that they have got to fight for these men, that they may go into the Legislature and protect his and their rights. No half way measures would do.

President Phillips said he thought a mass-meeting would probably he called for Monday evening, at which most of the candidates would be present, and he hoped they would turn out in strong kapili Church Tuesday evening next promises to be a very pleasurable affair.
